Dear Sir:

Please accept the enclosed amended patent application entitled Peppermint Isopropyl Alcohol, which was originally filed in October 2002 by Express Mail and accepted by the USPTO for a patent pending.

The amendments in the attached version of this application include a slight adjustment in the formula of the invention to make it slightly more flexible by making the herbal ingredient slightly more obvious if so desired. Also included are additional multi-purposes for the invention that were not included in the first submitted version; spelling corrections and corrections of typographical errors. The number of claims for this application has not been amended.

I respectfully request that the enclosed version of this application be published on the internet, in lieu of the first version.

I appreciate your considerations and acceptance of this amended version of my application for Peppermint Isopropyl Alcohol.

Sincerely yours,

Anne M. Lia
